Dear Distinguished Colleagues:

The American Academy of Anti-Aging Medicine looks forward to having you at our 21st Annual World Congress in Orlando. We appreciate your support. As pioneers in Anti-Aging medicine, our conferences offer a wide educational exposure to doctors not only locally and regionally, but also internationally. This serves the interest of both our company and you, to have the opportunity to attend lectures, practical workshops, and have a direct interaction with the latest technology and information in a straight forward face-to-face approach.

Anti-Aging medicine is transforming healthcare, one practice at a time. By attending this Congress, you are part of this transformation, and we applaud you for joining this fast-growing movement.

With warm regards,

Ronald Klatz

Ronald Klatz, MD, DO
President, A4M

On April 11-14, the world's leading experts will gather in Orlando, FL to convene for the largest and most influential academic conference and exhibition on Anti-Aging and Regenerative Medicine. Experts from fields of clinical medicine focused on the prevention and early intervention of aging related diseases will present innovative medical therapies and protocols.

Course Description:

The Anti-Aging and Regenerative medicine conference is an opportunity to present practicing physicians and health care professionals with reports on breaking technologies from fields of clinical medicine focused on the prevention and early intervention of aging related disease processes. In addition the Conference is an opportunity to highlight new medical techniques from around the world that can have an impact in the early detection, prevention, treatment of aging related disorders and regenerative medicine.

Course Objectives:

- Discuss effects of hormone replacement therapy on diastolic function
- Decide in which patients assessment of omega-3 blood levels would assist with risk stratification
- Understand practical methods to evaluate nutritional status in patient
- Strategies for mitigating cardiovascular risk
- Understand the intricate web that the hormones are in the body
- Discuss the risks and benefits of estrogen, progesterone, testosterone, DHEA, pregnenolone and melatonin
- Relate specific nutraceuticals to musculoskeletal regeneration and stem cell activation
